Richard Hunt Curriculum Vitae

Biography: Richard Hunt

Born: September 12, 1935, Chicago

Died: December 16, 2023, Chicago

Education: School of the Art Institute of Chicago, Bachelor of Arts Education (1957)

Richard Hunt (1935-2023) was a celebrated American metal sculptor who was the subject of more than 190 solo exhibitions, more than 350 group exhibitions, and featured as the first African American sculptor to have a retrospective at the Museum of Modern Art (MoMA) in 1971. His metal sculpture is notable for its widespread presence in more than 130 museum collections. Hunt made the largest contribution to public sculpture in the United States, with more than 160 commissions gracing prominent locations in 24 states and Washington, D.C.

Hunt considered artistic freedom to be the most important aspect of his career: “I am interested more than anything else in being a free person. To me, that means that I can make what I want to make, regardless of what anyone else thinks I should make.”

Hunt served on dozens of boards, committees, and councils during his lifetime, including serving as a Commissioner for the National Museum of American Art, part of the Smithsonian Institution, and as the first African American visual artist to serve on the National Council on the Arts. In addition, Hunt received more than 45 major awards, including the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Fellowship, the Lifetime Achievement Award from the International Sculpture Center, the Fifth Star Award from the City of Chicago, and the Legends and Legacy Award from the Art Institute of Chicago.

Among his works, Hunt paid tribute to some of his nation’s greatest heroes, including Martin Luther King, Jr., Mary McLeod Bethune, Jesse Owens, Hobart Taylor, Jr., and Ida B. Wells-Barnett. In 2022, Barack Obama commissioned Hunt to create a sculptural work for the Obama Presidential Center in Chicago. Book Bird (2023) will grace the Library Reading Garden outside the new Chicago Public Library branch on the campus when the center opens.

This CV provides a comprehensive accounting of Richard Hunt’s exhibitions, awards, and professional activities at the time of publication. Please note that Hunt’s extensive archive was acquired by the Getty Research Institute in 2022, and as more information becomes available, this CV will be updated periodically.
